Stevenson Or Kefauver? Florida Demos Vote Today

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Florida Democrats — and some Republicans — tell the nation Tuesday whether they would rather have the Democrats run Adlai E. Stevenson or Estes Kefauver for president.

On the eve of the Florida presidential primary, it still looked as if the vote would be light and close.

They could be wrong again, but as most political "experts" around the state saw it, as well as newsmen who have been covering the campaign, Stevenson had something of an edge.

The former Illinois governor thought so, too. The Tennessee senator disagreed completely. Each repeated victor claims.

Stevenson got his in at the airport, then took off for California and an even more important primary a week from Tuesday.

Kefauver spoke up in the midst of a whirlwind dash, dawn-to-midnight bid for ballots through Miami and the suburbs.

The lanky, hard-driving senator was up before daylight and on the way to a farmer's market. He had a dead cigar in one fist and the other stuck out over mounds of vegetables, watermelons and bananas in the direction of any potential voters.

"I sure hope," he said, pumping away, "you'll help me out in the election Tuesday."

Most of the farmers would drop their produce, grin and mumble a reply. But somewhat typical of the indifference that seems to surround the primary was the chap who just sat on his stool among the greenery. He waved halfheartedly and responded, "Hey, son."

On the Republican side of the primary, President Eisenhower has virtually no competition. A partial slate of national convention delegates is entered against him on behalf of Sen. William P. Knowland of California, but Knowland made no effort to campaign after Eisenhower announced for a second term.

While crossover voting is banned in Florida, along with write-in ballots, many Republicans are registered as Democrats in order to have a voice in selecting state officials—a process normally accomplished in the Democratic primaries.

JESSE JONES, FORMER RFC HEAD, CRITICALLY ILL

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Jesse H. Jones, Houston financier and former secretary of commerce and head of the Reconstruction Finance Corp., was reported in a critical condition Monday in a Houston hospital.

Jones, 82, entered St. Luke's Hospital about two weeks ago.

Jones, publisher of the Houston Chronicle, owns 35 multi-story Houston buildings. He built 33 of them, including three large downtown hotels and the Houston Chronicle.

As head of the RFC, the financier loaned over 50 billion dollars. He resigned the RFC post and as secretary of commerce in 1945.

WOOS FLORIDA VOTES—Sen. Estes Kefauver gets a fitting for a Florida cowboy hat from "Cowboy" Brown of Lakeland, Fla., during his campaigning at Tampa. Kefauver and Adlai Stevenson are winding up their campaigns in Florida before going out to the states still preparing for their primary elections. Stevenson will call on California again this coming week.

Solons Quarrel Over Division Of Funds In Road Building Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Bush (R-Conn.) late Monday offered a compromise plan in the hot Senate quarrel over how to divide among the states the huge federal funds planned for the interstate system in the highway bill.

However, Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.), chief sponsor of the Senate version of the legislation, said Bush's plan was not acceptable to him in its present form.

Demo Campaign In California Grows Bitter

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Backers of Adlai E. Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver traded blistering charges Monday as their tug-of-war for California's 68 Democratic presidential nominating votes entered its final showdown stage.

Democratic National committee man Paul Ziffren, a Stevenson supporter, declared "Kefauver is desperate because he knows he is through and he is out to destroy Stevenson even if that won't help Kefauver."

Thomas Carrell, Kefauver's California manager, retorted in a separate interview Stevenson's "Chicago boys have poured money in here and are trying to take over California."

Carrell named Jacob M. Arvey, Illinois national committeeman, as one of those he said were trying to interfere here.

In the remaining days before the nation's final and biggest presidential primary next Tuesday, the two contenders for the Democratic nomination lined up for what appeared likely to become a bitter contest revolving principally around civil rights and social welfare issues.

To bolster his position on those issues, Stevenson has brought in Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, the widow of the late president.

Propose A-Power Plants For Countries With Lack Of Fuel

WASHINGTON (AP)—Robert McKimney, Santa Fe publisher and authority on atomic energy, proposed Monday that the United States help build at least seven atomic power plants in countries where fuel is scarce.

He said this would help offset the new Russian technique of "Soviet service with a Soviet smile."

McKinney, who headed a panel which made an exhaustive report last winter on peaceful uses of nuclear power, appeared before the Senate-Atomic Energy Committee. It is considering ways to speed up the civilian atomic power program.

Another witness was Tom Pickett, executive vice president of the National Coal Assn. Pickett said the coal industry does not oppose the atomic power plants in this country. Gore would have this undertaken on a "crash" basis, in which speed is the primary consideration.

McKinney, who is editor and publisher of the Santa Fe New Mexican, proposed that the United States spend 350 million dollars on the foreign program he advocated, spreading it over five years.

The countries receiving the plants would be expected to help in the project.

McKinney did not name the countries he proposed to help.

Flood Waters Recede Leave Health Hazard Of Polluted Wells

FARMER CITY, Ill. (AP)—Flood waters receded in east central Illinois Monday, leaving the health hazard of polluted wells and heavy damage to hundreds of hard-hit farms.

The fertile agricultural region was hit Saturday and Sunday by torrential rains which flooded newly seeded corn and soybean fields in six counties and trapped livestock.

Cloudbursts spilled up to nine inches of rain in a few hours, knocking out highway bridges, undermining railroad tracks, and choking the Sangamon River and its tributaries. Salt and Kickapoo creeks into mile-wide lakes. The gently rolling farmland was cut into gullies one to 20 feet wide by gouging runoff rapids.

Kickapoo Creek, which overran a bridge on U.S. highway 51 at Heyworth Sunday, receding rapidly Monday, pouring its muddy water into the Sangamon which crested at 21 feet late in the morning at Mahomet, Champaign County. Salt Creek subsided more slowly over most of its length.

Warren Daniels of the U.S. Geological Survey, Champaign, said the crest was 18 feet above the river's normal stage and the highest recorded since the Mahomet gauge was installed in 1949.

At noon the Sangamon had risen four feet at Monticello, 15 miles downstream, and was expected to crest during the night. However, the river was not yet bankful at Monticello, and little flood damage to the town was expected.

The bulk of the flood waters were expected to be absorbed by Lake Decatur, a large reservoir made by damming the Sangamon. Gerald Davis, Decatur water superintendent, said he expects the lake level to rise about 18 inches although the dam spillway was kept open. No flooding was expected downstream.

As farmers counted their damage, Dr. E. M. Thompson, director of the DeWitt-Plant County Health Department, warned that water taken from flooded wells should be boiled before use for cooking or drinking. He urged that such wells be well chlorinated by their owners.

Three families were evacuated from their homes at Fisher in northwestern Champaign County (Continued On Page Eleven)

Murder Charge Faces Bride In Slaying Of Four

HAMMOND, Ind. (AP)—A 25-year-old bride of 25 days faced a preliminary charge of first degree murder Monday in the slaying of her paralyzed husband, his mother and his two young sisters.

The charge was filed against Mrs. Opal Agnes Collins after Detective Capt. Russell Oltz said she admitted shooting the four persons with a .22 caliber rifle equipped with telescopic sight.

Victims were her husband, Ben Collins Jr., 28, who was confined to a wheelchair; his mother, Julia M. Collins, 48, and his sisters, Martha Ann, 14, and Mary Sue, 11.

Oltz said the woman told him there had been arguments over the title to the home in which they lived and designation of beneficiary on a life insurance policy.

Morocco, France Sign Pact; Status Of U.S. Bases Open

PARIS (AP)—France and Morocco Monday signed agreements giving Morocco the right to take over her own diplomatic affairs, but leaving open the future status of U.S. air bases in the former North African protectorate.

French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau and Moroccan Foreign Minister Ahmed Balafout signed the documents in a formal ceremony.

This was one of a series of agreements outlining the future status of "interdependence" between the two nations in which France is being given favored status in Morocco.

The agreement states that all treaties concluded in the past by France in the name of Morocco will be respected, but a separate exchange of letters attached to the main document specifically excluded the air base treaty.

The letter signed by Balafout said "the Moroccan government entirely reserves its position" concerning the French-American accord of Dec. 22, 1950. The Moroccan government has maintained that it was not informed of this agreement, which gave the United States the right to build and operate five big bases in Morocco.

The bases, which put American strategic bombers within easy striking distance of Russia, were started after the outbreak of the Korean War. They cost about 375 million dollars.

A French Foreign Ministry source said this was a secret agreement between France and the United States. The spokesman added that France had purchased the land for the bases and had entered into the agreement with the United States in its capacity as the party responsible for defense of Morocco under the treaty setting up the protectorate.

Starts Billion-Dollar-Year Soil Bank; Substantial Victory For President

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower signed the farm bill Monday, inaugurating a billion-dollar-a-year soil bank and other new benefits for the farm population.

He said the legislation has shortcomings, but "its advantages outweigh its harmful provisions."

The bill is a substitute for an omnibus farm measure Eisenhower vetoed April 16 because of its provisions for a return to high, rigid price supports for major crops and other features objectionable to the administration.

The new legislation represents a substantial victory for the President and Secretary of Agriculture Benson over the Democratic farm state members in Congress.

"Most of the harmful provisions of the previous farm bill have been deleted or have been substantially modified," Eisenhower said in his statement. "Some of them still remain, however, and some new ones have been added."

He expressed disappointment that Congress did not grant him the authority he asked to pay farmers up to 500 million dollars this year on land they agree to withdraw from cultivation and place in the soil bank next year.

Democrats had assailed this idea as "a political lollipop" and a scheme to "buy the farm vote" in advance of the November elections.

"The delay in the bill's enactment," Eisenhower said, "makes it virtually impossible to put the soil bank properly into effect in 1956 and I am disappointed that advance payments to farmers are not provided for."

The President signed the bill at 4:30 p.m., one year and twelve days after the first version of the controversial legislation was passed by the House.

There was no special ceremony. Only Sherman Adams, the assistant to the President, and Gerald D. Morgan, the President's special counsel, were present.

Benson said he was glad the President had accepted the bill and that the Agriculture Department was "proceeding with judicious haste" to get the soil bank program under way.

The secretary said there were some parts of the bill which he would have preferred to have seen omitted, such as provisions freezing the standard for determining tee, said he was "delighted" at the news that the President had signed the measure. Then he added:

"As a matter of fact, I'm not surprised. It would have been the end of farm legislation if he had not."

The heart of the bill is the soil bank. Under it, farmers may collect up to $1,200,000,000 a year in government benefits for withdrawing land from the production of crops now in surplus supply. There are also important conservation features in this program.

The new law provides for supporting oats, rye, barley and sorghums, the small feed grains, at 76 percent of parity this year without any planting or marketing restrictions.

Corn produced outside the big commercial corn belt will be supported at 83 1/2 percent of the parity rate for commercial corn. The rate for commercial corn, already fixed by administrative order, is 83.7 percent of parity.

Parity is a price level deemed fair to the farmer in relation to his over-all production costs.

The law also provides an additional 500 million dollars to be used in helping dispose of farm products not now receiving direct price supports.

Fred A. Seaton Named Secretary Of Interior

WASHINGTON (AP)—Fred A. Seaton, former U.S. senator from Nebraska, was appointed secretary of the Interior by President Eisenhower Monday in a move that Seaton described as "sudden."

"Thank you," Seaton told well-wishers as he left the White House following the announcement. "This was a surprise."

Seaton reportedly was the personal choice of the President over another Nebraskan, Undersecretary of the Interior Clarence A. Davis.

Davis had been widely expected to get the Cabinet post after Secretary Douglas McKay resigned April 15 to seek and win the Oregon Republican senatorial nomination.

A Nebraska newspaper and radio executive who has been serving as deputy assistant to the President in charge of administrative affairs, Seaton announced immediately he intends to carry on Eisenhower's power and water policies.

Meeting with reporters shortly after his appointment was announced, Seaton said he had first word of the development last Thursday.

He said it is his intention to continue the partnership policy for power development under which local, private and public interests join with the federal government in hydroelectric projects.

Seaton said he has asked Davis to remain as undersecretary but Davis had not given his answer.

Steel Workers Present Demands For Wage Increase

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The United Steelworkers Monday launched contract negotiations with the basic steel industry, presenting demands for a wage increase and a high-priced package of contract improvements.

USW President David J. McDonald handed the union's proposals to President Clifford Hood of U.S. Steel Corp. in a morning session and then reviewed them again at separate meetings with Bethlehem and Republic Steel Corporations in the afternoon.

Negotiators for the union and the steel companies expressed hope for contract agreements well in advance of the June 30 midnight deadline for expiration of the present pacts. After that time the union will be free to strike if no new agreement is reached.

The USW program, calls for a wage increase—McDonald says it must be "substantial"—a 52-week layoff pay plan, a company-paid insurance program, and premium pay for Saturday and Sunday work.

There are many other proposals in the union package, but USW leaders have labelled these four as top priority. The union has put no price tag on the cost of putting its proposals into effect.

John A. Stephens, head of the U.S. Steel negotiations group, said the union demands will be given "full consideration."

Company officials made no immediate reply to the broad phrasing of the union program.

State GOP Meeting Observes Centennial Of Two Branches

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. (AP)—Illinois Republicans will dwell on the historical background of the state party and write a 1956 platform at their state convention here Tuesday.

The meeting will observe the exact date of the first GOP state convention here 100 years ago at which Abraham Lincoln delivered his famed "lost speech" warning against the danger of disunity in the nation.

Delegates assembled in the national guard armory not only will adopt a platform for the coming election campaign, but will select three nominees for University of Illinois trustees and name 10 delegates-at-large to the national convention. Fifty delegates were elected in the April primary.

Gov. Stratton, U. S. Sen. Everett M. Dirksen and State Auditor Orville E. Hodge will get three of the delegate posts.

Among others mentioned are C. Wayland Brooks, national committeeman from Illinois; Joseph Bibb, state director of the Public Safety Department; Charles Percy of Chicago, president of the United Republican Fund in Illinois, and Richard J. Lyons, state revenue director.

Stratton and other state officials along with members of the platform committee met at the executive mansion in Springfield Monday night to go over a draft of the document. Atty. Gen. Latham Castle is the committee chairman.

The statement of party principles is expected to contain recommendations for an Illinois speed limit law which Stratton has been advocating, and support for the proposed constitutional amendment to the state's revenue article. The article is to be voted on in a statewide referendum in November.

The bulk of the platform will be devoted to outlining accomplishments of the Stratton administration and praising President Eisenhower.

Presbyterians Approve Merger Of Two Branches

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The 168th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A., Monday approved a "plan of Union" with the United Presbyterian Church—but not until opposition was overridden on the name for the new church.

A substitute motion recommending another name failed.

The merged church is to be called the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. — combining the 2,700,000 members of the group convening here and the quarter-million members of the United Presbyterian Church, which has presbyteries primarily in Pennsylvania.

The merger now must go before the smaller branch's General Assembly meeting June 12-18 at Knoxville College, Knoxville, Ky., and then be voted on by the presbyteries of the two branches.

The assemblies of the two churches would merge formally at a meeting in Pittsburgh in 1958, with the presbyteries of each encouraged meanwhile to exchange representatives and conduct meetings to promote the union.

Church leaders in both branches have expressed the hope the merger will lead to a wider union. A three-way merger was rejected by the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.—a Southern branch — last year and the other two then decided to go ahead on their own.

A Friendly Visitor

Indonesia's President Sukarno has proved a captivating visitor to America.

Not only has he shown a tremendously engaging personality, but he has revealed a considerable knowledge of this country, its history, and especially its revolutionary origins.

Again and again he has demonstrated in words that he has real appreciation for the ideal of freedom which sparked the American Revolution and made this nation's course a beacon for liberty-loving people all over the world.

He shows, too, a determination to search discriminatingly for the real essence of America—beyond bathtubs and motorcars and flashy suburbs and tall buildings. He has been looking for the "state of mind" which lies at the root of all we do as a people.

Sukarno's country is "neutral" in the Cold War. But his visit provides proof that to be neutral doesn't mean to be unfriendly, as some would argue. We should all be very glad he came.

Rhee Losing Favor

Syngman Rhee has never encouraged what might be called ideal democratic conditions in Korea. So it is rather remarkable that in winning election to a third term as president he polled only 55 per cent of the vote.

Four years ago he drew 72 per cent of the total. This time he had surprising competition from an ex-communist who is in hiding, and a man who died of a brain hemorrhage 10 days before election.

Obviously the aged Rhee still has matters in hand. But the strong vote for his rivals would seem at least in part to represent a protest.

It could be that Koreans are growing weary of his iron-handed rule in the guise of democracy. Or perhaps that they are just growing tired of Rhee.

Outsiders have been saying for a long time that Korea needs fresh, imaginative leadership. A good many Koreans may be reaching the same conclusion.

Shades Of Shakespeare

So they have poked into Sir Thomas Walsingham's tomb to see if Shakespeare was a fake. All that remained was a small pile of sand.

Yet the American literary detective, Calvin Hoffman, does not seem satisfied in his effort to prove Shakespeare's plays were written by Sir Thomas's protegee, Christopher Marlowe, Elizabethan poet and dramatist.

"It has not proved or disproved my theory," he declared. "I have other clues to follow up while I am in England."

Hoffman's attempts to undo a dead

Shakespeare seem to us to strike the same note as the taunts of Hamlet in the "Alas, poor Yorick," speech from the grave diggers scene in that play.

Addressing the skull of the king's jester, Hamlet says:

"Where be your gibes now, your gambols, your songs, your flashes of merriment, that were wont to set the table on a roar? Not one now to mock your own grinning? Quite chopfallen?"

All of which is to say we think Mr. Hoffman's prying is "much ado about nothing."

Anthony van Leeuwenhoek is credited with being the first man to look at a drop of water under a microscope. Anton was born in 1632 in Delft, Holland, and he early developed the hobby of grinding lenses out of bits of glass.

Young Anton found the drop of water teeming with living, moving things he called "beasties." Other scientists went on to determine the good and bad character of the many microbes which live in such a common little place as a drop of clear water.

All of us might do well to train the magnifying lens of our minds on the intellectual and spiritual drops of water we take into our systems day after day. We should probably be shocked at the "beasties" which constantly in-oculate our minds and souls.

We all believe in friendship, but should we welcome into our homes persons who are determined to destroy the love and happiness of family fellowship? There are many people who offer us something for nothing, but who really demand our lives.

Materialism can destroy us, if we are not aware of higher spiritual values in everyday living. Selfishness, dishonesty and indifference are all around us, and offer such an easy way of life.

We should discover the little "beasties" all around us which would weaken us, sap our energies and leave us helpless. We

Prevention Best Defense Against Brucellosis Spread

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

Undoubtedly, one of the most important health problems existing today relates to the disease known as brucellosis, undulant fever or Malta fever. The confusion in names is largely the result of the fact that there are three known types of the germ causing the disease.

These are brucellosis abortus in cattle, brucellosis suis in swine, and brucellosis melitensis in goats.

Man can be the victim of any one of the three types. It is estimated that up to one person in 10 is, or has been, infected with one of these three types of germs.

Some get off fairly easily but in others a most serious health problem is presented.

Mrs. S., for example, writes that her husband has had brucellosis for eight or nine years and gets only partial relief from one of the "mycin" drugs.

SEVERAL YEARS AGO one of the leading research workers on this disease contracted it but was thought to be "a nervous case" for many years before the truth was discovered.

In human beings the disease often behaves in a peculiar manner.

In typical undulant fever the diagnosis may not be so difficult because the fever tends to go up and down in a wave which, in fact, gave that form of brucellosis its name. When the onset is acute, besides the fever, there are likely to be chilly sensations, excessive sweating, loss of weight, headache, and pains in the muscles.

Diagnosis of the disease in human beings, particularly if it has been long lasting, presents many difficulties. If the germ can be found in the blood—which it often cannot—then the diagnosis is established. In many, however, the symptoms of chronic brucellosis are so familiar to those of other diseases that the exact cause may escape recognition for a long time.

TREATMENT, too, is not completely satisfactory. Some of the antibiotic drugs and some of the sulfonamides, either alone or in combination, have been reported as giving good results for some. But the results are not always as good as could be hoped.

At the present time, the best line of attack on brucellosis in human beings lies in reducing the frequency of the disease in cattle and swine (which are used more than goats for milk and meat in North America).

SINCE THE GERM can be transmitted from infected animals to human beings either through the digestive tract or through a cut in the skin, the drinking of pasteurized milk which has been heated enough to destroy the germs, the thorough cooking of meat, and the use of considerable care in regard to breaks in the skin if there is a chance of contact with the germ, are among the best preventive measures.

Butchers in particular need to exert great care to avoid this infection.

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (P)—What has happened to Clara Bow?

That question is often asked about the famed "It" girl of the flaming twenties. I put it to her husband, Rex Bell, onetime cowboy star and now lieutenant governor of Nevada.

"For the past few years she has had trouble with her nerves," he explained. "Mentally she is fine and dandy. But she has had emotional disturbances that have knocked out her health. She has had trouble with sleeping and has been high strung."

"She has had to live an entirely different life since the trouble began. She needs the constant care of a doctor and must go to a sanitarium when her condition gets worse. That's why she must stay in Los Angeles; we don't have the facilities here."

"She has been down there for the past four years. Some of the time she spends in a sanitarium in Culver City; we also have an apartment nearby. I get down every four or six weeks and our sons visit her when they can. (They are Rex Anthony, 21, college student, and George Robert, almost 18, in high school.)"

"Unfortunately, she doesn't have a bit of social life. That's one of the things she can't take in her condition."

"If she had been Minnie Zilch instead of Clara Bow, perhaps this never would have happened to her. But the emotional strain of her early years was just too much for her nervous system."

"It's like training horses. Sometimes when you're starting too roughly, you break 'em in too early, while you take a saddle horse and bring him along easy."

He added that his wife's condition has been "a little better" recently. Although she cannot see her old pals, she keeps in touch with them via cards and remembrances.

A newcomer to politics, Bell remarked that his own life is much the same despite his job as Nevada's No. 2 executive.

"It's not too much different from the acting business," he said. "My social and public duties are about the same now as when I was in Hollywood."

ASHEVILLE, N. C. (P)—Once upon a time there was a boy born here 100 years old at his birth. Or so he always felt.

He was the youngest of eight children, the "baby" in the family. He was a strange child, thin and pale-faced, and given to long brooding silences. He wore dresses until he was at least 3. His mother didn't let him cut his shoulder length curls until he was nearly 9.

His father, who carved and sold tombstones, could quote Shakespeare and the Bible endlessly. These things may have helped give the boy his early preoccupation with death and time and literature.

The boy, Tom Wolfe, grew into a raw-boned giant 6 feet 5½. His mind matched his stature. In a lonely room in London he wrote a classic first novel, "Look Homeward, Angel," which told of his lost youth—and every man's heart hunger for a previous time gone by.

He was just 29, and the world acclaimed him as a new literary giant. But many folks here thought Tom had been too brutally frank in portraying both his family and his townpeople.

For years Tom felt himself an outcast, more lost and lonely than ever. But before his death in 1938 time softened the anger of citizens here, and today he is recognized as Asheville's most famous son. The town has made a museum of the old rambling 22-room white clapboard house in which he dreamed as a boy, and in which his mother, Julia, sometimes cooked for as many as 35 to 40 summer boarders.

Thousands of visitors make a pilgrimage here each year. They are people who loved Tom through his books, which still sell widely. They range from garage mechanics to college presidents, but many are young students.

"The younger generation think he's wonderful," said Wolfe's sister, Mrs. Mabel Wheaton, who showed me through the old home. Mrs. Wheaton, who is 10 years older than Tom and was the closest member of the family to him in life, resembles him physically. She is tall and shares his tremendous energy, his gusto for living. She was a singer in her youth.

"Tom always said he was 100 years old when he was born," she said, "and I think he really was." She guided me into the parlor past two fading hallway motes that said, "Do Right and Fear Not" and "Peace be Unto This House."

She sat down at an ancient upright piano and played a few bars from Stephen Foster's "Beautiful Dreamer."

"The whole family used to like to sing that," she remarked. "Tom liked all tuneless things."

The old-fashioned furniture was marked with the signs of much usage. Everything in the house bore the signature of vigorous past life.

Mabel led me to the room in which had been put Tom's furniture from his New York apartment and his two typewriters. His worn leather briefcase leaned against a table leg on the floor, as if he had left it there only a moment before and would soon be back. The furniture was old and worn.

"Tom really never had anything fine in his life," said his sister, and I felt sad.

After leaving Mrs. Wheaton I went out to Riverside Cemetery where Tom, who always felt lost, now can be found by any stranger. He is buried in a Robinson woodland setting by his father and mother, and on his tombstone is this apt quotation from one of his own books:

"Death Bent to Touch His Chosen Son With Mercy, Love and Pity, and Put the Seal of Honor on Him When He Died."

Tom, who once in his loneliness wrote "You Can't Go Home Again," did, in fact, after "The Tumult, the Fever, and the Fret," come back to the only home he ever knew, the temple of the past in which time stands still forever.

So They Say

I confidently expect Georgia to go over overwhelmingly Democratic this year. If (Adlai) Stevenson is the Democratic nominee, I will be for Stevenson.

—Herman Talmadge, candidate for the U.S. Senate from Georgia.

No business enterprise, nor for that matter any individual has a "right" to succeed. The only "right" they have is the "right" of opportunity. Free enterprise involves risks as well as rewards. We don't deserve one unless we are ready to accept the other.

—M. J. Rathbone, president Standard Oil of New Jersey.

There can be no democracy if one class predominates, and that goes for business, labor, the military, and others.

—George Meany, president AFL-CIO.

In our so-called enlightened society, we seem to regard death by motor vehicles as routine and humdrum news items.

—North Carolina's Gov. Luther Hodges.

Baked Alaska Will Add Glamor to Strawberry Pie

BY GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Food and Markets Editor

Expect guests for Memorial Day?

Then here's a gay dessert to treat them to. It uses fresh strawberries, everybody's favorite.

Baked Alaska French Strawberry Pie (Yield: 6 servings)

For best results with this pie, have all ingredients ready before making it. Bake a 9-inch pie shell and cool. Prepare 2 cups sliced fresh strawberries and chill. Have 1 pint vanilla ice cream frozen hard. Make meringue using 3 egg whites beaten until they stand in soft peaks and then, one-third cup sugar, gradually beaten into them. Just before serving, set oven control to broil. Place 1 cup sliced strawberries in the bottom of a cold baked pie crust. Top with ice cream. Sprinkle with remaining fresh strawberries and cover all with meringue, being sure to let it meet the rim of the crust. Place in the oven (not broiler) 1 minute or until meringue is brown.

Here's another de luxe dessert: Our Boston friend, Richard Tread-

way of New England inns famed, gave it to us from his collection.

Chocolate Cream Roll

Seven egg yolks, 7 ounces sugar, 7 ounces dark sweet chocolate or chocolate bits, 7 egg whites.

Beat egg yolk and sugar until light and lemony in color. Add chocolate that has been melted in three tablespoons of cold water. Stir stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into a sheet pan about ¼ inch deep, 12 inches wide and 18 inches long that has been lightly oiled, lined with wax paper and oiled again. Bake about 20 minutes at 350 degrees F. (moderate oven). Turn out onto wax paper and let cool. When cool, spread with whipped cream and roll up. Sprinkle with chopped pistachio nuts or powdered sugar and serve. Note: It is not a good idea to roll in refrigerator as this will make it soggy.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Pan-broiled ham steak, parsley new potatoes, braised endive, seeded rolls, butter or margarine, baked Alaska fresh strawberry pie, coffee, tea, milk.

EDSON IN WASHINGTON

'Technological Indigestion' Shows Up in Auto Industry

BY PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—President Sukarno of Indonesia says the world is suffering from "technological indigestion."

"I sometimes feel that man has reached for the stars and smeared his hand with primitive mud," he declared in his speech before Washington's National Press Club.

"We have penicillin—and the wonders of bacteriological warfare. We have rocket-powered bombing aircraft—and ox-drawn plows. We have atom bombs—and half the world lit by flickering oil lamps. We have television—and soap opera."

Indonesia's father of his 11-year-old country may have been talking primarily about the Asian countries now struggling to make good their new-found freedom and proud nationalism. They are "in a hurry" as Sukarno says, to catch up with the western world after 250 years of colonialism. But they want the best that western culture has to offer, without the worst.

WHILE THE CONTRAST between the two is more obvious in the underdeveloped areas of the world, it is not unapparent in the United States. The situation is pointed up by the recent dedication of the 100-million-dollar General Motors Technical Center near Detroit.

Seven years have gone into developing this 25-building research center on a 330-acre site. It will employ 4,000 engineers, scientists and stylists. They will produce the last word in technological perfection—for machines.

But on the day before the center was dedicated, GM President Harlow H. Curtice reduced his estimate of the number of automobiles to be produced this year from 6,500,000 to 5,800,000.

This was not immediately translated into a cut in employment figures for the balance of the year. President Curtice said GM employment "is now within 50,000 of the total of a year ago, when the industry was near an all-time peak."

GOVERNMENT SOURCES now put unemployment in the auto industry at just under 150,000—which is a lot of people out of work, any way you look at it. United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther has asked employers to join in a labor-management conference to find a solution for this situation.

These seemingly unrelated facts are being put together in Washington to indicate that while one branch of an important industry is spending 100 million dollars on mechanical research, it still has a considerable problem on its hands in human research.

This is said without attempting to belittle GM or any other company's labor policies. GM pioneered in the cost-of-living escalator clause and in the annual productivity wage increase.

Labor leaders may claim these reforms were put in only after considerable nudging by their negotiators. This would be particularly true of the new supplementary unemployment benefit payments put in last year's contracts. They cushion, but do not remove the cause of temporary layoffs.

IT IS TO FIND THE CAUSES of unemployment and correct them that further human engineering research is said to be needed, on the same scale as technical research.

U.S. Department of Labor has recently started one research project which is a necessary first step. It is a monthly report on who the unemployed are and where they are.

The first report showed 30 per cent of the 1.5 million insured unemployed were unskilled, 15 per cent were in the building trades, 10 per cent in clerical trades, and so on.

Seventy-five per cent of the unemployed are men. Forty per cent are over 44 years old. Average unemployment is seven weeks for those under age 64, 14 weeks for those older.

To attack unemployment regionally, there is now before Congress proposed legislation for the relief of depressed areas. But this is only one other ulcer of the greater ill which President Sukarno calls technological indigestion.

The bad thing about good sportsmanship is that you usually have to lose to prove you've got it.

It's 5:30 p. m. The back door slams—and he comes into the kitchen, disheveled by play and wind, smelling of fresh air.

At the sink, he fills a glass with water, gulps a mouthful and grabs for your dish towel. Before he can wipe his mouth with it, you snatch it from him. You say nothing. Neither does he. You rehang the dish towel on its rack and he walks over to the roller of paper towels on the cupboard door.

"You are not," you interrupt peremptorily. "You are not going to Brownie's house to see a TV show or anything else at supertime. How many times do you have to be told that it's rude to visit people at mealtimes? I wouldn't want Brownie here watching TV while we're having supper and I know Mrs. Brownie doesn't want you there while they're having it. I should think you'd not have to be told that walking in on her at supertime is practically asking her to invite you and . . ."

Home Bureau Activities

Mrs. A. B. Applebee and Mrs. Lester Reed were recent co-hostesses to members of the Mound unit at the Applebee home, 1414 West Walnut street. The meeting was conducted by the chairman, Mrs. Harry Killam.

Mrs. Roscoe Mawson led the group with the pledge to the flag. Miss Hazel Graves, home adviser, presented the lesson, Becoming Fabric Design. A discussion followed the lesson. The song of the month, O Perfect Day, was sung by the group. Mrs. Joseph Turner presented the selected subject, Oven Meals.

Eighteen members answered roll call with a favorite flower. Mrs. H. V. McNeely gave a report on Health. The subject covered Cancer.

The chairman announced the Membership Tea and also that Mrs. Lester Reed, Miss Rose Ranson, Mrs. Maude Adkins and Mrs. Albert McFarland were new members during the past year. The highlights of the board meeting were read by Mrs. Killam.

Mrs. John Boddy poured at the beautifully appointed table. The linen the hostess, Mrs. Applebee used, was from Mexico and especially beautiful. The next meeting will be at 2:30 daylight time on June 4 with Mrs. Roscoe Mawson. The lesson, Floor Finishes will be given by Mrs. Harlan Mason and Mrs. William Benson. A book review will be heard from Mrs. Earl Davis. On June 8 a special lesson on basket weaving will be held by Mrs. Helen Tipps at the home of Mrs. Harold Hamel.

The Morgan-Scott county Home Bureau honored its 71 new members at a meeting held May 23 at the lovely home of Mrs. Lloyd Black on East Morton avenue. Pouring at the beautifully appointed tea table during the afternoon were Mrs. Raymond Morris of Bluffs Day Unit and Mrs. Marie Ward from the Sinclair unit who are both chapter members of Home Bureau.

During the membership drive week the latter part of April Mrs. Roy Robinson signed the most new members and she was awarded a Home Bureau pin.

The vice chairmen, Mrs. Grover Lewis and Mrs. Harold Hurlbrink, assisted by the county committee, served during the afternoon.

Charter members from Morgan county are Mrs. Dan Ward, Mrs. Eugene Dodsworth, Mrs. Milton Birdsell, Mrs. John Becker, Mrs. Elmer Hyar and Mrs. Alfred Lamkular. Scott county charter members are Mrs. Raymond Morris, Mrs. Edward Sutton and Mrs. Clarence Wilson.

MURRAYVILLE — The Murrayville Unit of Home Bureau met Tuesday afternoon May 22 at the home of Mrs. Waldus Bealmear. The chairman, Mrs. Robert E. Mutch called the meeting to order and the group sang, "The End Of A Perfect Day."

Miss Hazel Graves, home advisor, in her discussion of becoming fabric designs, reminded the group that in choosing becoming clothes, the type of fabric or the design in the cloth is important as well as its color and the pattern.

The selected subject, "Oven Meals" was given by Mrs. Byron Waters. Roll call, my favorite flower, was answered by 15 members, two guests, Mrs. Clara Vedder and Mrs. Robert Pennell.

The highlights of the board were read by Mrs. Ralph Heaton. The meeting was closed by reading the Mary Stewart collect.

Pike Bureau Members Visit Amana Colony

PITTSFIELD — A group of 62 Pike County Home Bureau members and other homemakers recently made a trip to Pella, Iowa, and the Amana Colony located near Cedar Rapids, as a part of the year's program of the Home Home Economics Extension Service.

The Tulip Festival at Pella was reported to be one of the best. The theme of the festival was the commemoration of the founding of Pella by the Dutch in 1847, and all entertainment not in harmony with that thought in mind was barred. The visitors found pleasure in the flowers, costumes, heirlooms, scenic gardens, Dutch dancing, pageantry, music, the glamorous parade, and above all the excellent cuisine.

The visitors when they reached the Amana Colony of seven villages at once sensed that this was something different. The Amana Society was originally started with a religious and spiritual motive, in a quest for the American way of freedom of belief and worship. The colony is made up of people who own rich farm lands, stores, restaurants, mills and factories, a corporation in which the workers, most of them stockholders, are really working for themselves, a corporation in which management guides rather than commands.

The group was inspired by the peaceful atmosphere that pervaded the entire colony and reflected a home life equalled by workers in few industries. Behind this tranquility busy people, happy in their work of producing superior products, retained the touch of honest craftsmanship.

The homemakers visited the Amana people at their work and in their homes. The products of the Amanas are varied. The woolen mills produce woolsens of exquisite beauty. The cabinet shops make enchanting furniture. Hickory smoked ham, bacon and various varieties of sausage make a gourmet's dream come true. Delicious bread and other bakery products are made in the bakery. The Amana Refrigeration, Inc., formerly a division of the Amana Society, is one of the newer industries which produce modern home freezers and room air-conditioners.

The group from Pike County found the tour not only educational, but of great interest and pleasure as well.

ASHLAND

William Satorius has been admitted to St. John's hospital in Springfield, for medical treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Owens, Mrs. Marjorie Bloomfield and Paul Hammack attended the Brother's night at the Dawson O.E.S. chapter last Friday night. Mrs. Bloomfield served as Ruth, and Mr. Hammack was chaplain.

Mrs. Colenna Morrow, who has been a medical patient in St. John's hospital in Springfield, for a few days, has returned to her home.

Mrs. Reed Gerbing of Davenport, Iowa, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emmerson Thornley and son. Mrs. Gerbing was a former Ashland resident. Her husband, the late William Gerbing was postmaster here for several years.

Mrs. Glenn Sinclair entertained the D.P.L. club at her home last Friday night, with three tables of bridge at play. High score prize went to Mrs. Calista Duncheon; second to Miss Althea Stout, and traveling to Miss Julia Hewitt. Others present were: Mrs. Morton Struble, Mrs. Zeta Devlin, Mrs. Glyn Jones, Mrs. Bert Fitzsimmons, Mrs. Effie Hewitt, Mrs. John Leahy, Mrs. W. E. Open House Marks Glasgow Couple's 25th Anniversary

GLASGOW—Open house from 2 to 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon was held in the home of Mrs. Royce Savage here in honor of the 25th wedding anniversary of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Buell Howard of near Milton.

A four-tiered wedding cake, baked by Mrs. Savage, punch, mints and nuts were served to relatives and friends who called during the afternoon hours. The honored couple received numerous gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard, the latter before marriage being Miss Evelyn Clanton, were married May 18, 1931, in the courthouse at Winchester, with N. L. Hamilton, justice of the peace, performing the ceremony.

The couple started housekeeping in a tenant house on the Irl Bowman farm, southwest of Glasgow, and have since resided on several farms in Greene and Scott counties. For the past year they have occupied a tenant farm northeast of Milton in Pike county.

They are the parents of 10 children: Donald, Mrs. Lucille Savage and Mrs. Carolyn Hester of Glasgow, and Dean, Larry, Linda, Laura Ann, Earle, Merle and Lorna, at home. There are also two grandchildren.

Strawberry Season Opens
 Picking of the year's crop of strawberries has started in this area. The first berries to be picked from a local patch came from the one owned by George Ward in the east part of town Monday morning. This year's crop is reported showing average yield and quality.

Think of this next time you're in heavy traffic —

No other transmission is so smooth as Dynaflo^{*}

You know how it is.

Anyone who drives a car these days must sometimes drive in crawling, slow-moving traffic where it's stop-and-go or sputter-and-slow.

And if you're used to a car that handles such traffic with a continuous series of upshifts and downshifts—even automatically—then maybe you think that's the best you can have.

But it isn't. You can have Dynaflo smoothness in a new Buick—and you won't believe the difference until you try stop-and-go traffic.

For here you have absolute smoothness when you accelerate.

Here you have absolute smoothness when you decelerate.

Here you have absolute smoothness under every road condition and traffic pace—with no lags or bumps to mark upshifts and downshifts—because no gears ever shift in Dynaflo.

It's the only transmission on the American scene today where flowing oil does the work of gears every step of the way—and where smoothness is constant, absolute and infinite.

So maybe you ought to sample a new Buick with Variable Pitch Dynaflo—and try the new thrills that go with this smoothness—

The flash-fast new getaway response—and new stepped-up gas mileage—when you press the pedal barely an inch—

The instant new full-power acceleration

when you floor the pedal and switch the pitch for a needed safety-surge—

The walloping new might of the big new 322-cubic-inch V8 engine that puts the ginger to it all—

And the new ride, the new handling ease, the new interiors, the new bold look of racy sweep-ahead styling.

Drop in on us this week—today if you can—and see for yourself what straightforward truth we tell you here—and what great-buy prices are keeping Buick more firmly than ever in the top 3 of America's best sellers.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

Two Arizona Men Revisit Old Home Town, Pittsfield

PITTSFIELD — Marion Crane and Carl Frazier of Tucson, Ariz., have been visiting friends and relatives in the city the past week. Carl is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Frazier and a brother of Mrs. Winthrop Anderson. Mrs. Frazier has been with her father, who is ill, in Mendon, Ill., for several weeks and plans to return to Tucson with her husband.

This is the first visit Marion Crane has made to his home town since leaving here 15 years ago. He is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. David Crane and prior to going to the southwest he was employed for 17 years with Zimmerman Brothers. He has enjoyed renewing old acquaintances.

Mrs. Crane is the former Elizabeth Storck, and is a former deputy county clerk of Pike County. Their two children are now grown and married, and live near the home of their parents. Mrs. Minnie Storck, mother of Mrs. Crane, also a native of this city, has been living with them in Tucson for a number of years, and is reported to be in good health at the age of 80.

Many improvements are being made in both the pool and the park area. The pool will be open every day except Saturday from 2 to 5:30 and 6:30 to 9:30, according to A. B. Caughlan, chairman of the park board.

Memorial Day Services May 30 In White Hall

WHITE HALL—Memorial Day services will be conducted here May 30 at 10:30 a.m. at Memorial Hill in White Hall cemetery.

The program will include selections by the high school band; a selection by a male quartet, Don Heberling, Ronald Crowell, David Crowell and Fred Anthony. A message and prayer by the Rev. LaVern Hicks, pastor of Calvary Baptist church; selections by a quartet and the high school band; and a salute to the dead, "Taps," by Kenneth Love.

All members of American Legion Post 70 and Auxiliary and V.F.W. Post 7684 and Auxiliary are requested to assemble at the American Legion home at 10 that morning, with other participants assembling at Memorial Hill for the services.

Personals

Miss Shirley Dean has returned to Miami, Fla., after a two week vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milo Dean.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Wilkinson, who have been residing at the Tower View Nursing Home in Carrollton, returned to their home here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Hutchens of rural Roodhouse are parents of a daughter, Melissa Faye, born at the local hospital May 20. Mother and baby were dismissed to their home May 22.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Woods are parents of a son born May 21 at White Hall hospital.

Charles Boland Holmes underwent major surgery Monday at White Hall hospital.

Easy Carpet Cleaning Discovery Hailed

What is said to be the easiest and "cleanest" home rug cleaner, known as Blue Lustre, is now available after years of research.

Blue Lustre leaves no foreign residue to cause rapid resoling. The pile is left open and fluffy as the colors spring out like magic. So easy to apply with a long handle brush (like playing shuffleboard) and is safe for all types of carpets.

Use Blue Lustre to clean the entire carpet or remove spots and traffic lanes. It's economical to use as 1/2 gallon of concentrate cleans three 9x12 rugs.

Wife Stands By Man Accused Of Heiress' Murder
MIDDLEBURY, Vt. (AP)—A young Vermont wife today stuck by her husband as he proclaimed innocence in the slaying of the pretty Philadelphia heiress whose body was found in a closet of his Carson City, Nev., apartment.
William E. Boswell, 35, an itinerant bartender, was arrested Saturday in connection with the strangulation of blonde Mrs. Anne Harris Van Ryne, 22.
Police had been tipped off that Boswell was driving cross country to visit his wife in this small Vermont town and arrested him as he was about to enter his mother-in-law's house.
After visiting her husband in Addison County Jail, Mrs. Arline Boswell, 22, told newsmen: "He says he is innocent. I believe he is. The least I can do now is to stay with him."
Mrs. Boswell, who had left her husband in Carson City recently, went into seclusion after leaving the jail Sunday.
Boswell pleaded guilty to a fugitive charge and was held without bail to await transfer to Carson City, where a murder complaint was issued for him.
Police said the registration of the car he was driving was made out to Mrs. Van Ryne and her husband, who is serving a year in Los Angeles on a bad check conviction.
Police said also that Boswell had Mrs. Van Ryne's wallet containing Nevada and Pennsylvania driving licenses and other papers.
The body of the pretty heiress was found last Thursday in a closet of Boswell's Carson City apartment. She was wearing a dress and a sweater. Her panties and a housecoat belt, which police believe was used to garrot her, were found nearby.
William H. Bauman, head of the Vermont state police, said Boswell admitted seeing Mrs. Van Ryne last Monday night but denied he killed her.
Friends of Mrs. Van Ryne said she left her motel Monday after saying she was going to Boswell's apartment to sell him one of her two cars.
The victim was divorced from J. Francis De Vinney of Philadelphia in 1954. She married Thomas W. Van Ryne, 39, toxicologist, early this year. She was the daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Flagler Harris of Philadelphia. Her father, N. Andrew Harris III, is a retired aircraft company executive.
MIDGET DEER POSE MYSTERY
LEAMINGTON, England (AP)—Midget deer only two feet tall are leaping like kangaroos in Leamington's streets and gardens. Harry Lightbrown, an inspector for the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, said their origin, is a mystery. There are herds of deer in the area, but they are normal-sized.
Carrollton To Hold Memorial Service May 30
CARROLLTON — The Rev. H. P. Peckman, pastor of the local Our Redeemer Lutheran church, will deliver the address at the Memorial Day service to be held Wednesday, May 30, at ten a.m. in the Court House yard.
The program will open with music by the Carrollton Community Unit school band directed by Miss Val Berry. Patriotic numbers will be sung by the Carrollton Community Chorus directed by Earl Sherwood and with Mrs. Neil Carrico as accompanist. Jerry Jig will give Lincoln's Gettysburg address and Miss Linda Owens will read "In Flanders Field." Taps will be sounded by the firing squad of the Carrollton American Legion Post.
Prior to the Memorial Day service the local Legion will have placed a flag at the grave of every war veteran in the area.
The Memorial Day program is sponsored by the local American Legion Post of which Dr. Fred L. Walter is commander and Joe Goeddey adjutant.

GREEK MINISTER RESIGNS BECAUSE OF CYPRUS ISSUE
ATHENS (AP)—Premier Constantine Karamanlis today accepted the resignation of Foreign Minister Spyros Theotokis and named Agriculture Minister Evangelos Averoff to his post.
Theotokis said in a statement he had resigned in protest against the "irreconcilable" attitude of foreign powers toward Greece's demand that Britain turn over the island of Cyprus to her.
He mentioned no names. However, the United States has been condemned widely in Greece because it has not pressured Britain to accede to Greece.

MEMORY LANE
WITH DUE REVERENCE
Remember when Memorial Day was usually referred to as "Decoration Day" and parades were held in every town? Deep reverence was shown the "old soldiers" as they proudly passed in review and we listened attentively to the orator who gave a patriotic address after a few appropriate numbers by the band. Remember?

Wears Gloves, Catches Limit Of Brook Trout

"It was the first time I ever fished with gloves on," Dick Stratman of the DeWitt Motor Co. said when asked by friends about his trip to Maine, where he and his father, F. J. Stratman, teamed up to fill their creels with the limit.

Stratman, who flew east to join his father, a resident of St. Petersburg, Fla., said the temperature dropped to 28 degrees in the vicinity of Kokodjo, Maine, 100 miles north of Bangor. An inch or more snow fell while the Stratmans were on the fishing trip, while in the woods where the sun couldn't get a crack at drifted snow it was still three feet deep.

The Stratmans went to work with their rods and reels, however, and succeeded in getting the possession limit of 15 brook trout, devouring some in the meanwhile. Dick Stratman reported that three of the fish were 2½ pounders, largest brook trout he has ever caught.

Gasoline Flares Up, Burns Man At Jerseyville

JERSEYVILLE—Edward T. Collins was taken to the Jersey Community Hospital for treatment of severe burns suffered at the warehouse of the Jersey County Farm Supply company in the eastern part of Jerseyville.

Collins, who is an employee of the company, was assisting in burning out the stump of a tree on the premises and threw a quantity of gasoline on the fire. The fluid flared up and Collins' clothing caught fire.

He sustained burns on the left arm from the shoulder to ends of the fingers, and on his back and face. He was taken to the local hospital for treatment.

Dr. Podshadley Heads County Dental Society

Dr. Arlon G. Podshadley was elected president for the coming year of the Morgan County Dental Society at the regular monthly dinner meeting held at Hamilton's Cafe.

The retiring president, Dr. Robert Lee Davis, conducted the business meeting. Plans were discussed for the annual Ladies Night scheduled for June 29 with Dr. J. Ralph Griebler and Dr. Podshadley named co-chairmen for the event.

Dr. Raymond Templin, program chairman for the evening, introduced Raymond Flinn of the Social Security office of Springfield (whose topic was "Social Security As It Applies to the Dentist.") The speaker reviewed the history and then spoke of the proposed legislative changes and benefits of the Old Age and Survivors Insurance Act.

Those attending were Dr. John Lee, Virden; Dr. Robert E. Lee Waverly; Dr. J. Walton Dace and Dr. R. E. Harper, Winchester; Dr. Robert Lee Davis, Dr. Arlon Podshadley, Dr. R. P. Templin; Dr. Robert Herr, Dr. Ross Bradley, Dr. M. A. Summers, Dr. J. Allen Bixes, Dr. W. B. Young, Jr., and Miss Angela Killam of Jacksonville.

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

It might be advisable for the Pacific Coast Conference to call the whole thing off and start all over.

The football recruiters are blowing the whistle on one another. If this keeps up and the investigators dig any deeper, the conference may not have a team left to send to the Rose Bowl.

A batch of UCLA players are going to be deprived of a year of eligibility.

Why hit the youngsters for the offenses of adults responsible for the mess?

Isn't it about time administrators of athletic programs are held responsible?

There is an unusual twist to high-pressure football in the colleges. You can list on the fingers of one hand institutions over-emphasizing football that have large endowments. Wealthy people concerned about important educational development are not interested in football powers.

So, why all the mad rush for superior talent and the under-the-table tactics that go with it?

A boy who does not excel in athletics has to be in the top third of his class to get in any first class college. It costs $2,000 a year to send him to school. When he gets there, all the money he sees is from home.

The registrar looks at the average lad's credentials coldly. If they don't measure up, he doesn't enter. If he does get in, he is out real quick if his marks don't hold up.

The way the sports pages have been reading lately, however, you'd suspect that a seat of higher learning is a place for big-bodied boys only, swiftness with three good years of high school football under their belts.

You'd think it was a land of blocking and tackling, and as far as the football squad goes, you'd be right. School playing the big-time game are little more than football foundries, as far as the athletes are concerned.

College football in most sections has become so important that you can find people who tell you that "we should pay college players. It would end hypocrisy."

College football is a fine game for boys.

Placed in the hands of old fog alumni, real and synthetic, and career coaches looking to make $18,000 a year, it has become an overgrown evil.

What good is a thorough knowledge of how to knock the end up into the bleachers 10 years later when the boss wants to know the standing of the Bigelow account, or whether the product is moving?

Players who enter college for football experience leading to the professional ranks have no business in classes. Let the pros establish farm clubs for them. Come to think of it, that's what colleges playing the all-out game really are.

There is nothing wrong with athletic scholarships, but the way they are handled today is preposterous. Why should an over-sized lad with a 66 average be welcomed when a bright-enough kid has trouble getting in?

There is one redeeming feature to the Pacific Coast Conference mess.

It should help return college football to its proper setting.

Mantle And Long Find Stopper To Base Hits; He's Ole Man Weather

NEW YORK (AP)—There's a veteran pitcher dampening the spirits of some major league batters. Actually, he appears to be the only guy who can stop Mickey Mantle and Dale Long, baseball's most prolific hitters the past couple of weeks.

This guy's a cagy one, serves 'em up from way up high, sometimes fast, sometimes slow. He's a threat all the time, particularly on a cloudy day.

He's old man weather. This rough old gent caused the postponements Sunday of games involving the New York Yankees and Pittsburgh Pirates. That meant that Mantle and Long could not get a chance to add to their already impressive accomplishments.

Phils Defeat Giants 5-2 Behind Haddix

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Harvey Haddix effectively scattered 10 hits Monday night as Philadelphia Phillies defeated the New York Giants 5-2 before a crowd of 10,430 at Connie Mack Stadium. Robin Roberts went in as insurance in the eighth inning and kept the Giants becalmed with one hit.

It was southpaw Haddix' first victory since coming to the Phillies in a trade from St. Louis two weeks ago. He struck out seven before wiling in the eighth when Roberts made his first relief appearance of the season. Haddix had posted another victory with St. Louis.

While the New Yorkers were wasting opportunities behind Al Worthington—in one inning the Giants had two doubles and a walk and didn't score—the Phillies made good use of their nine safeties.

Ford Gains 7th Win As Yanks Blank Boston 2-0

NEW YORK (AP)—Whitey Ford spaced five Boston singles to hang up his seventh victory against a lone defeat this season as the New York Yankees made the most of four hits off Frank Sullivan to beat the Red Sox 2-0.

It was the eighth straight complete game for the stubby New York southpaw, who lowered his leading earned run average to 1.01 with his second shutout of the season.

Sullivan won 3-2, gave the hard-hitting Yanks a tough time, but couldn't keep their four hits spaced. New York got two singles in the first inning—by Gil McDougald and Billy Martin—and scored a run on Yogi Berra's infield out. The other run came in the fourth—with the help of two errors by shortstop Don Buddin sandwiched between singles by Mickey Mantle and Joe Collins.

A crowd of 35,454 sat in on the contest.

Ford struck out five while Sullivan struck out six.

Berra's RBI grounder came on his first at bat in eight days. He had a 4-1 game lead over second-place Cleveland, beaten 3-1 by Detroit Monday night. The loss dropped the Red Sox 6½ games back.

More Rain May Force Delay Of 500-Mile Start

By DALE BURGESS

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—A flash flood closed all gateways and tunnels to the Indianapolis motor speedway Monday but began subsiding, and the management hoped the 40th 500-mile race could be run Wednesday as scheduled.

The Weather Bureau said there was a possibility of more showers Monday night, Tuesday and Wednesday. A three-day downpour has made a river of a small stream which runs under the south end of the track.

The auto classic has been postponed only once, in 1915 for two days.

The outer concrete wall, against which many race cars have crashed in flames, held the full flow of the stream off the track but rivulets flowed near the southwest turn from leaking joints.

The infield, where most of the 100,000 or so race day fans park their autos, was a series of lakes.

The race had a full field regardless of whether the trickles of water stopped flowing across the track in time for 63 minutes of qualification runs left over from Sunday.

Sure starters in the front row Memorial Day are Pat Flaherty of Chicago, who set a qualifying record of 145.596 miles an hour on the first day of trials May 19; Jim Rathmann of Miami, who qualified at 145.120, and Pat O'Connor of North Vernon, Ind., 144.980.

Rathmann has the Hopkins Special rebuilt from the car in which two-time winner Bill Vukovich was killed in last year's race.

The three drivers who survived the four-car Vukovich wreck also will be in the lineup—Johnny Boyd, from Vukovich's home town of Fresno, Calif.; Rodger Ward of Los Angeles, and Al Keller of West Palm Beach, Fla.

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—City beach lifeguard Lt. Jim Gilmour recalls that while on a Sierra Nevada outing, he stopped before dawn at a stream to try for trout for breakfast.

Cubs Bunch Four Runs In Fifth To Take 4-1 Victory Over Redlegs

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Cubs blended Bob Rush's three hit pitching with a four-run fifth inning to defeat Cincinnati 4-1 before a sparse windblown crowd of 1,202 Monday.

Shortstop Roy McMillan, who got two of the Cincinnati hits, tripled and scored in the third. McMillan tallied on losing pitcher Joe Nuxhall's sacrifice fly.

Cincinnati's other safeties were McMillan's single with two out in the eighth, and rookie Frank Robinson's single with one out in the ninth. Rush fanned seven and walked but one in posting his third win in five decisions.

A walk to Rush opened the fifth. Eddie Miksis bunted and was safe on Nuxhall's fumble. Gene Baker followed with another bunt for a single to load the bases. Ernie Banks doubled, scoring Rush and Miksis. Baker scored on Walt Moryn's single, a liner off Nuxhall's glove.

Nuxhall then was withdrawn in favor of Art Fowler. Banks scored when Irvin sacrificed to Gus Bell in deep center.

Braves Rout Cardinals 10-3 In Battle For National League Lead

ST. LOUIS (AP)—What was supposed to be a battle for first place in the National League turned into a quick rout Monday night as the Milwaukee Braves defeated the St. Louis Cardinals, 10-3.

The Braves had been leading by percentages but trailing by one in the games-behind department. Gene Conley, recently returned to active duty with the Braves, earned the victory in long-term relief. He pitched the final six innings and allowed the Cards only one run, on eight hits.

The Braves wasted no time wiling out that one-game-behind deficit and improving their percentage lead while at it. They scored three runs in each of the first two innings. Milwaukee's total attack was 14 hits, including home runs by Bob Thomson and Del Crandall.

Thomson homered in the first inning, with two mates on base, courtesy of bases on balls by Cardinals starter Herm Wehmeier. A rash of singles good for three more runs in the second inning drove out Wehmeier. Crandall homered against the Cards first reliever, Max Surkont, with the bases empty in the third inning.

Bases empty Cardinals homers by Jack Brantly in the third and Ken Boyer in the fourth got rid of Braves starter Lou Sleater and brought on Conley.

Gromek Pitches Detroit To 3-1 Win Over Tribe

CLEVELAND (AP)—Steve Gromek threw a six-hitter at the Cleveland Indians Monday to win Detroit a 3-1 victory over the Tribe. Ray Boone hit a home run off loser Herb Score in the sixth inning.

Three players who spent many seasons in Cleveland uniform were key men in the Detroit triumph: Gromek, who evened his record at three won, three lost; Boone, whose homer was his seventh, and Bob Kennedy, whose double drove in the first Tiger run.

Score, in losing his fourth game against five victories, struck out eight, getting Gromek and Jack Phillips three times each. He now has 75 strikeouts in 69 innings.

In each of the first four innings, the lead-off Tiger batter got on with a single. Al Kaline got the starting single in the fourth, then Ray Boone singled and Kennedy's drive bounced into the left field stands for a ground-rule double that scored Kaline. Boone came home on a force play.

Cleveland bunched half its hits off Gromek in the first inning and scored a run before a batter was retired. Jim Busby tripled, and Bob Avila and Al Smith followed with singles.

Orioles Trip Nats 6-5 In 10 Innings

BALTIMORE (AP)—Pitcher Mike Fornieles, who came on in the seventh inning to stem a rising tide of Washington runs, doubled in the last of the 10th and scored on Chuck Diering's Orioles a 6-5 victory over the Senators Monday night.

Diering's single caromed off the glove of Washington third baseman Eddie Yost, breaking a 5-5 tie.

Fornieles, making his first appearance in a Baltimore uniform after being traded away by the Chicago White Sox last Thursday, had donated the tying run to Washington in the seventh.

Coming to the relief of George Zuverink, third Baltimore pitcher, with one away and two aboard, Fornieles gave Clint Courtney an intentional pass and then walked Jim Lemon to force in a run.

Connie Johnson, also obtained in the Chicago trade, started for the Orioles but gave way to Don Ferrarese who left in favor of Zuverink. Bob Chakales, third Senators' hurler, was charged with the loss.

Friend And Ford Lead Majors In Complete Games

NEW YORK (AP)—Pittsburgh's Bob Friend, who went the distance in only nine of his 20 starts last season, and Whitey Ford of the New York Yankees, a routine pitcher in each of his seven starts this year, Monday led the major leagues in complete games.

Friend, ace right-hander of the surprising Pirates, heads the National League with seven complete games while picking up seven victories against two setbacks. He has gone all the way twice each against the Brooklyn Dodgers and Cincinnati Redlegs and once each against the New York Giants, St. Louis Cards and Milwaukee Braves.

Ford, who has a 6-1 won-lost record, tops the American League. He has yet to be knocked out of the box, dropping his only decision when Bob Wilson tagged him for a ninth inning home run for a 3-2 Detroit triumph. Whitey went the route 18 times in 33 starts in 1955.

Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies, the majors' complete game leader with 26 in 38 outings last year, is runnerup to Friend in the National League. He has started nine times with six complete.

Johnny Antonelli of the Giants, with five in eight starts, is third. He's followed by Roger Craig and Don Newcombe of the Dodgers with four apiece. The records include Sunday's games.

Figures compiled by the Associated Press also revealed that Cleveland's Bob Lemon already has had more complete games this season than he had in all of 1955. The Indians' right-hander is second to Ford in the AL with six. He had only five in 31 starts a year ago.

Early Wynn of Cleveland, Billy Pierce of the Chicago White Sox and Art Dittmer of Kansas City have gone the route five times in American League games.

Ray Crone, young Milwaukee right-hander, has three complete games in four starts in the National.

The present Pinlicko race track in Baltimore, Md., opened in 1870.

Dale Long Hits 8th Homer In 8 Games As Pirates Beat Bums 3-2

PITTSBURGH (AP)—First baseman Dale Long of the Pittsburgh Pirates continued his almost incredible home run hitting Monday night by blasting his 8th homer in as many games to set a major league record as the third-place Pirates beat the Brooklyn Dodgers 3-2.

Bobby Friend, the Pirates' ace right-hander, gave up only two hits in winning his eighth game against two defeats—the winning record of any major league hurler.

Only last Saturday Long set the mark of seven homers in as many games. He now has 14, tops in the National League.

The Dodgers runs were scored on a tremendous home run blast by Duke Snider in the second inning. Junior Gilliam was on base as the result of a base on balls—one of six allowed by Friend. He struck out three.

A tremendous crowd of 32,221 gave Long a standing ovation after his leadoff homer into the right field stands in the fourth inning off starter Carl Erskine who hasn't won a game since pitching a no-hitter May 12 against the New York Giants. He now has a 2-4 record.

Long struck out on his last two appearances and grounded out in his first trip in the first inning. The Dodger infield put a deep shift to the right side of the infield for the southpaw swinging Long—the first time a team has done that all season.

After Snider's homer in the opening inning, the only other hit off Friend was in the third when Gilliam singled.

With the stands still buzzing over Long's feat, catcher Hank Foiles tripled to open the Pirate fifth and raced home with the winning run on pinch hitter Bob Skinner's single.

For the Pirates it was their fourth consecutive victory and their 11th in their last 14 games.

Friend now has allowed but four runs and 11 hits to the Dodgers in his three victories over the world champions. Previously he beat them 3-1 and 10-1.

Chicago Livestock Market Report

CHICAGO (U)—Salable hog receipts expanded to 10,000 head, 2,000 above a week ago, and butchers took 25 to 50 cents while sows sold weak to 25 cents lower Monday.

Buyers paid $17.25 to $17.75 for most 190 to 260 pound butchers, reaching up to $18.10 for about 150 head closely sorted for weight and grade. This top was down 15 cents from Friday.

Butchers scaling 270 to 310 pounds were taken at $16.50 to $17.25. Sows brought $13.25 to $15.75.

In the cattle section, where salable receipts totaled 21,000 steers were 25 to 50 cents higher for the most part. However, some high choice to low prime grades were only steady. Heifers gained 25 to 50 cents.

A few loads of prime steers sold at $23.15 to $24.25, the top. Choice steers brought $20.25 to $21.25, and good $17.75 to $19.75. Buyers paid $20.00 to $22.00 for choice and prime heifers.

Cows were steady at $15.50 to $16.50 for utility and commercial and $10.00 to $12.25 for camera and cutters. Vealers were fully steady at $21.00 to $25.00 for good and choice.

Salable sheep totaled 1,000. Steady prices ruled for all classes. Good to prime shorn lambs brought $22.50 to $24.50 while good and choice spring lambs sold at $28.00 to $27.50.

NEW YORK (U)—Financial and commodity markets throughout the United States will be closed Memorial Day, May 30.

PRESSURE PUSHES GRAIN PRICES DOWN:

WHEAT LOSES LEAST

By WILLIAM FERRIS
CHICAGO (U)—All grain except wheat took a severe drubbing on the Board of Trade Monday. Wheat lost small fractions, which was a pretty good performance considering what was happening elsewhere.

July soybeans fell 10 cents, the daily limit, and were only 1 cent above the $3.00 mark at the finish. That was the widest decline in the market. March futures of all cereals sank to new seasonal lows.

Wheat closed 1/4 cent lower, corn 2 3/4 cents lower, oats 2 1/4-2 1/2 lower, rye 3 1/4-4 lower, soybeans 3 1/2 to 10 cents lower and laid 55 to 72 cents a hundred pounds lower.

Brokers attributed the pressure to scattered liquidation. Some support came from elevator houses but export business was practically nil. Weakness in securities was no help to sentiment in grains, brokers added.

While some traders were impressed by the steadiness of wheat, others noted that this cereal appeared to have taken a good part of its licking in the past two weeks when it had been very weak.

Old crop soybeans started out easy in view of weakness in soybean oil and meal but they really headed downward after it became known visible supplies of soybeans at Chicago had increased 133,000 bushels last week, totaling 6,552,000 bushels.

This came as a big shock to the bulls, who have been talking about a large movement of cash soybeans out of this market to processing plants. Visible supply at all major terminals was off 666,000 bushels, but totaled 12,544,000 against 1,703,000 a year ago.

New York Stock Market

By RADER WINGET

NEW YORK (U)—The stock market was beaten down sharply Monday at the start of its fourth week of reaction, but a vigorous rally at the close marked the appearance of strong buying support.

Monday's drop was a part of the long slide that has retraced all but the final portion of the strong advance that started in mid-February and topped out in early April.

The reaction has been founded in the spotty economic picture the nation presents, especially lowered automobile production, the possibility of a strike in the steel industry, and a general tightening of money rates that has been going on for many months.

There was nothing new to account for the market's action. During the time the market has been going down it has passed through various price areas known as support levels. Monday it ran into another of these support levels.

There were 244 stocks Monday that sold at their lowest prices of the year—an indication of why many buyers came into the market in the belief that bargains were there for the taking.

Prices were off 1 to around 8 points at their worst, and at the finish the range of decline was 1 to around 5 points.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was down $2.20 at $175.20 with the industrial component off $2.60, railroads down $3.00, and utilities off 50 cents.

There were 1,200 individual issues traded of which 163 advanced and 845 declined. Only 3 stocks were able to make new highs for the year while 244 hit new lows.

Volume mounted swiftly both during the selling wave and the subsequent recovery drive. It came to 2,780,000 shares for the day as compared with 2,570,000 shares traded in Friday's moderately lower market.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange on volume of 1,060,000 shares as compared with 840,000 shares Friday.

New York Bond Market

NEW YORK (U)—Convertible bonds recovered but rails and utilities gave ground at the close in an irregular bond market Monday. Volume rose to $4,260,000 par value on the big board from $3,810,000 last Friday.

U. S. government bonds inched up in quiet trading in the over-the-counter market.

School For Deaf To Graduate 93rd Class

Baccalaureate services, Sunday, May 27, in Bowen Auditorium marked the opening of commencement week for the class of 1956 at the Illinois School for the Deaf. The minister for the occasion was the Reverend John W. Collins of the Centenary Methodist church.

Standley as faculty advisor, will be the 93rd graduating class in the history of the school since the founding of the institution in 1839.

Dr. J. A. Raney, superintendent of the Indiana State School for the Deaf, will give the commencement address. Dr. Raney is a former school teacher, a graduate of Franklin College and Butler University and has been superintendent for 20 years at the Indiana School. As an extra outlet for his insatiable urge toward human service, he is presently serving as president of Kiwanis International.

The members of the 1956 graduating class who will receive diplomas are the following: Lorraine Bellafiore, Chicago; Mary Jo Brouse, Media; Margaret Covell, Aurora; Paul Dramin, Jacksonville; Lamont Kleof, Chicago; Lowell Kumber, Elmwood Park; Gordon Mason, Manchester; Jeanne Morley, Aurora; George Ann Olsen, Evanston; Ruth Peters, El Paso; Catherine Pratt, Pinckneyville; Harold Rash, Shawneetown; and Pauline Remmers, Freeport.

Flood Waters Recede

The two varieties of peacock come from India and Ceylon and from Malaya.

At Galesburg, in northwestern Illinois, a thunderstorm dumped 1.82 inches in a half hour period between 12:30 and 1 p.m. This was more than the entire weekend rainfall of 1.75. The earlier rain was welcomed because of a long spell of dry weather.

The Monday rainfall however, filled streets and spilled into basements. Some householders reported that water rose briefly to the level of their front porches.

Don Stewart Killed, Cousin Hurt Slightly In Mississippi Wreck

Donald Stewart, 23, of Raymondville, Mo., who was employed in Jacksonville by his uncle as a truck driver, was killed instantly Saturday night near Tunica, Miss., when a large trailer truck struck the side of a bridge.

His cousin, Roy Dean (Sonny) Stewart, 20, of 800 Freedman street, was slightly injured.

Word of the tragedy reached this city early Sunday morning. The wreck is reported to have occurred when Sonny Stewart, who was driving the trailer truck, was blinded by the lights of an approaching car, which flashed in his eyes.

Cars Collide On U.S. 67; Woman Suffers Injury

Mrs. Selda Jackson, wife of Elmer Jackson, 404 Lake street, was injured in an automobile collision at 12:40 o'clock Sunday morning on U.S. Route 67, near the Drive-In Theater, and several others in the two cars narrowly escaped injury.

Suffering from cuts, bruises and shock, Mrs. Jackson was taken to Our Saviour's hospital in the Cooney ambulance. Her condition Monday was reported as satisfactory, and she spent a good night.

Officers who went to the place of the collision found a 1955 Ford in which the Jacksons were riding had turned upside down at the side of the highway.

A 1954 Chevrolet driven by John Thomas Owens of Greenfield, in which several persons were riding, did not overturn. Members of the sheriff's force said the Jackson car left the highway, veered back on the pavement and struck the Owens car.

Deputy Sheriffs Wright and Ruble, and State Patrolmen Batley and Fuiks went to the scene of the collision.

Alumni Fete Meredosia Grads At Dinner-Dance

MEREDOSIA — Saturday night the Alumni Association of the Meredosia-Chambersburg high school held its annual dinner honoring this year's graduates in the school gym. The white-covered tables were decorated with floral centerpieces; green napkins were rolled to suggest diplomas and tied with white ribbons.

President Maurice Kunzeman announced the program: Linda Miller sang and tap-danced between the first and second courses. After the second course, Rebecca VanDeventer played a piano solo and Judy Windsor sang and tap-danced. After dessert, the tables were taken down to clear the floor for dancing by an out of town orchestra.

The dinner began with tomato juice cocktail and combination salad, with a second course of ham, scalloped potatoes, buttered corn, hot rolls and butter and relishes. Dessert was upside pineapple cake garnished with whipped cream and a cherry. The dinner was prepared by Mrs. Harvey Dawson, Mrs. Charles Smith, Mrs. Harold Martin and Mrs. Irene McDaniel.

Mrs. Rutherford, Former Riggston Resident, Dies

WINCHESTER — Mrs. Olive L. Rutherford, former Scott and Morgan county resident, age 88, died late Sunday night in Chicago. She was the wife of the late James L. Rutherford and for many years the family lived at Riggston. Mrs. Rutherford moved from Riggston to Winchester, then to Jacksonville before going to Chicago to reside with her daughter.

She was born near Riggston March 26, 1858, the daughter of Thomas and Jane Green Coultas. Her husband, six brothers and two sisters preceded her in death. She is survived by two children, her daughter, Mrs. Frances Brackett with whom she made her home and a son, James L. Rutherford, all of Chicago. There are four grandchildren and several great grandchildren, nieces and nephews.

The deceased was a member of the Riggston Methodist church.

The body is at the Cunningham funeral home and arrangements will be announced later.

Same Donors Keep Blood Program In Morgan Co. Alive

A total of 264 pints of blood were obtained in Morgan county when the Red Cross Bloodmobile visited Jacksonville last Thursday and Friday. The quota was 350 for the two day visit at the Grace Methodist church.

From the first it was evident donors were slow to respond and most of those who did were previous donors. There were only 48 giving blood to the program for the first time, 22 on Thursday and 26 on Friday.

The lack of interest by those who have never bothered to give blood or cared if the county had the blood program is why Morgan does not have the outstanding record held by neighboring counties on the same program.

Most of the blood donors in Morgan are those who have given time and time again with a small number of new donors being added to the list in comparison to the overall total. This is proven by the fact that once a person has donated blood they realize the simplicity of the procedure and the great value of their contribution and respond to the plea again and again.

A total of 306 people offered to give blood during the visit but 41 were rejected for various reasons determined by medical tests and check-ups by nurses and doctors.

1 and 2 Gallon Givers. A good number of donors Thursday and Friday added their names to the Gallon Club of donors. They were Miss Hazel Battenfield, William T. Capps, Wayne Dickman, Mrs. Peggy Fernandes, Howell Hitt, Mrs. Grace Hughes, Don Hamey, Mrs. Marion May, Arthur Mitchell, Miss Rosemary Milburn, Ellis Brant and Mrs. Dorothy Dowling.

Two donors during the May visit became eligible for the Two Gallon Club, John L. Hughes and George H. Vasey.

Business firms and individuals responded splendidly in supplying sandwiches and beverages that are served to those giving blood after their donation. The Ideal Bakery supplied the bread for sandwiches; Hudson Dairy supplied all of the milk, cream for coffee and orange drink served; Coca Cola Bottling company donated a case of Coca Cola free for every one purchased; paper napkins were supplied by the Kaiser Supply company and Craig Office Supplies furnished needed typewriters for clerical work.

The following generously furnished sandwich spreads for the two day visit, Mrs. Charles Williamson, Mrs. Sam Osborne, Mrs. Dorothy Woolsey, Mrs. Ruby Ambrough, Mrs. Elbert Brasel, Mrs. Ben Lane, Mrs. Merton Abbott, Sr., Mrs. Andrew Harris, Mr. Kroy at the Dunlap Hotel who also supplied linens used at the hostesses tables.

Members of the Rotary club helped the Red Cross Staff Members from the St. Louis regional office unload the equipment when it arrived last Thursday morning and also to re-load Friday evening after the visit concluded.

Car Hits Drug Store Window; Arrest Driver

A large plate glass window at the Bonacorsi drug store at the southwest corner of the square was shattered by an automobile at 12:24 o'clock Sunday morning. The car ran over the sidewalk, collided solidly with the building, and loosened tiles in the wall.

The car which struck the building is reported to have been pushed by another car west on Morgan street and south on Broadway Alley.

A 1957 Ford with extensive damage to the front was found by police in an alley near Marion street. License plates had been removed.

An investigation by police into ownership of the car followed, and Monday morning information were issued in Morgan county court charging Gene Hacker with reckless driving and leaving the scene of an accident. Complaints were signed by Edward Bonacorsi.

Hacker, a former Jacksonville man, gave his address as Canoga Park, Calif.

He was held in the city jail Monday morning awaiting arraignment in court.

Three Die, Seven Hurt In Truck, Train Wreck

ALLIANCE, Ohio (AP)—A speeding passenger train was hit by a truck at nearby Atwater Monday. The truck driver, a brakeman on the train, and a farmer in a mill next to the tracks were killed. Seven persons were injured, including several of the 60 passengers on the Pennsylvania Railroad's Pittsburgh - to - Cleveland "Steelers."

Brakeman Arthur J. Fisher, about 50, of Pittsburgh, was decapitated by a rail that sliced through one of the four train coaches that stayed upright.

The b a g a g e - and - mail car flipped aside and crashed into the Portage County Farm Bureau mill next to the tracks, killing 41-year-old Charles E. Fouser, an Atwater farmer who was having some grain ground.

The truck that smashed into the train's diesel engine at the U. S. 224 crossing was ripped to pieces, and its driver, 27-year-old Andrew Nappi of Akron, was killed.

"Everything went up in the air," said Harry Whittlesey, Atwater constable. "Rails were flying sky high."

He said he prevented workmen with acetylene torches from cutting through the wreckage of the mill to the buried baggage car. "I am also a fireman," he said. "It would go up like a tinderbox."

Whittlesey said flasher lights were blinking at the crossing and the train whistled as it approached.

A passenger on the train, Mrs. Lucille D'Alessandro of Cleveland, said the whole train seemed to shudder after "a hard bump."

"The train kept going forward and pieces of the truck were flying through the air," she said.

There was no panic among the passengers in her car, she said. They just waited until the doors were pried open so they could get out.

Find Valuable Civil War Papers In Dead Storage

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter today announced the discovery of valuable Civil War documents that have up to now lain unnoticed in dead storage. The collection includes 10,000 books, pictures, scrapbooks, diaries and letters, some of them concerning Gen. John A. Logan, famous Civil War general and originator of Memorial Day.

They are part of the adjutant general's collection which was stored in the Centennial Building basement after it was donated to the state in 1908 and 1923. The collection has been turned over to the Illinois State Historical Library.

In the collection are several items pertaining to Abraham Lincoln. Among them are a board with seven bullets in it which were fired by Lincoln while testing a rifle, a piece of the cloth lining of his 1860 coach and a wheel from his carriage of 1852.

Other items are two letters of Elijah P. Lovejoy, Abolitionist editor who was murdered at Alton in 1837, a Testament which stopped a bullet passing the life of Lt. William Shipley and two dozen specimens of Confederate paper money.

Much of the collection is made up of congratulatory messages received by Logan on his election to the U. S. Senate and of letters and telegrams he received during the 1884 presidential campaign when he was a candidate for vice president.

Also of historical interest are four Civil War diaries, more than 3,000 photographs and numerous maps of the battle fields of Vicksburg, Gettysburg, Chattanooga and Chancellorsville.

The collection was discovered by National Records Management Council, which is surveying state records.

Sell $52,000 Bonds For New Parking Lot; Plan Forestry Survey

The office of police magistrate was abolished by a 10 to 4 vote of the city council last night over the protest of Mayor Hoagland, who said he believed such action would be "stepping backward."

An ordinance, up for second reading, sounded the finish of the magistrate post, which has been the center of a legal controversy for several months.

While registering a divided vote on the police magistrate question, the council was in full agreement on awarding a contract for sale of $52,000 parking system revenue bonds to the Municipal Bond Corporation of Chicago, to finance the new off-street parking lot on North Mauvasterre street. Bids were submitted by four bond houses, the bid of the Municipal Bond Corporation having been found to be the best.

When the magistrate ordinance came up for final reading, Mayor Hoagland pointed out that at the time the question was first considered he expressed opinion that the office should be retained.

"The record will bear out that it has been a definite advantage to law enforcement," he asserted.

Mayor Hoagland called attention of the council to a situation in court last Saturday when costs would have amounted to $164 in a justice of the peace court. He said he is fearful of dissatisfaction and confusion without the services of a magistrate.

Office Created in 1947. The mayor declared that persons should be ruled out and the question decided on the need of the office, which was created in 1947.

Alderman Harris Rowe retorted that he had not reached a conclusion based on personalities, but that he had heard a number of persons say they did not believe a man should serve who had been voted out of office.

Alderman Fitzsimmons told the council the magistrate's office had been a "political football," and he believed the best thing to do was get rid of the office.

Roll called found Aldermen Fitzsimmons, Goodey, Greener, Hall, Kelly, Mathews, Rowe, Scott, Sims and Souza voting "Yes," for abolishment of the job.

"No" votes were cast by Aldermen Allen, DeFrates, Sheerin and Mayor Hoagland.

Court Decisions Involved. The legal maneuvering involving the magistrate's office since last February is common knowledge. The Morgan county circuit court ruled that William C. Messersmith, who had occupied the office 10 months, had not qualified by proper filing of his bond. The court later found, in connection with quo warranto proceedings, that Russell J. Alvarez was entitled to continue in office until his successor was duly elected and qualified.

Bids of four companies for purchase of the municipal parking lot bonds were opened by City Clerk Phillips and read by Attorney W. L. Fay, special counsel, early in the meeting. The Municipal Bond Corporation represented locally by the Elliott State Bank, quoted an interest rate on all bonds of 3
